DETAILED ACTION

1. A supplemental response to the notice of non-compliant amendment was received on 30 July 2007. By this response, Claims 1, 3, 8, 16, and 29 have been amended. Claims 2, 4-7, 17, and 36-59 have been canceled. New Claims 60-74 have been added. Claims 1, 3, 8-16, 18-35, and 60-74 are currently pending in the present application.

Response to Amendment

2. The Examiner notes that the response received 30 July 2007 does not fully comply with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.121. In particular, the listing of claims in the reply is not in ascending numerical order. More specifically, Claim 39 is listed twice: in proper numerical order grouped with Claims 36-59 as canceled, and listed again as canceled between new Claims 63 and 64. However, because both instances of the claim are listed as canceled, and thus there is no confusion as to the status of the claim, and further because the present response appears to be a bona fide attempt at advancing the prosecution of the application, the supplemental response has been entered and considered as though it were fully in compliance with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.121.

Art Unit: 2137

3. Upon further consideration of the pending claims, a requirement for restriction under 35 U.S.C. 121 has been deemed necessary, as set forth below. As per 37 CFR 1.142(a), a requirement for restriction may be made at any time before final action.

Election/Restrictions

4. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claims 1, 3, and 8-15, drawn to methods for requesting authentication using a hash digest, classified in class 713, subclass 181.
 - II. Claims 16, 18-23, and 61-74, drawn to methods and systems for verifying authentication requests using a cache and proof of knowledge of privileged data, classified in class 726, subclass 5.
 - III. Claims 24-28, drawn to methods for updating a cache memory, classified in class 726, subclass 28.
 - IV. Claims 29-35 and 60, drawn to software for authenticating system access using encrypted information, classified in class 713, subclass 168.
5. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:
- Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as performing authentication when a cache is unavailable. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination III has separate utility such as updating a cache. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as performing authentication when encryption functionality is unavailable. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination III has separate utility such as updating a cache. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination II has separate utility such as performing authentication when encryption functionality is unavailable. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination III has separate utility such as updating a cache. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

6. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
